

This sequence diagram shows the scenario where a player's turn end and it is the turn for the next player. The end of the player's turn is caused by uncovering chit card that does not match the animal type of his current position.

